“GENEALOGY: DIGITAL DIVING AND PAPER PERUSING”

September 10th, 2019

Jamie Mize will present “Genealogy: Digital Diving and Paper Perusing.”

Ms. Mize will introduce participants to basic search methods using ancestry.com, including Ancestry’s Fold3 collection of military records. She will also explain the resources available through the Mann Room at the Franklin County Public Library.

Jamie Mize has been with the Franklin County Public Library for the past 10 years. She began there first as a volunteer, and now she is a staff member.

She currently designs and oversees children’s art programming at the Rocky Mount library branch. She developed a love of family history research when she began working with the library’s recently retired genealogist, Dorothy Hodges. Jamie now assists members of the public in researching their ancestors and using the library’s Mann Room, which houses a rich collection of local and regional historical records.
