“TO THE ROOF OF AFRICA AND BEYOND?”

November 8, 2022

10:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m.

Ms. Carol Love and Dr. Delia Heck will present, “To the Roof of Africa and Beyond.”

Ms. Love and Dr. Heck will share photos, stories and insights about their recent journey to Kilimanjaro and the National Parks of Tanzania. Join them as they share not only details of the climb and safaris but also lessons on physical geography, ecosystems, economics, culture, art, animals and life.

Carol is the Ferrum College science department laboratory supervisor during the school year and functions as the lab and field coordinator for Ferrum College’s Smith Mountain Lake Water Quality Monitoring Project in the summers. She likes to kayak, hike, and read in her free time, and is an ardent fan of the UConn women’s basketball team.

Delia earned her PhD in Geography from the University of Washington. She is the Director of Institutional Effectiveness and a Professor of Environmental Science at Ferrum College. She teaches courses in Environmental Science, Eco-Justice, GIS, and Sustainability. She is a member of Episcopal Relief and Development’s Climate Resilience Community of Practice. She works on issues of environmental justice and racism as a member of The Episcopal Church’s Taskforce for Care of Creation and Environmental Racism. Her summers are spent leading Ferrum College’s Smith Mountain Lake Water Quality Monitoring Program.
